

Reflection

I really enjoyed the small groups. What I liked most about them was receiving help and advice about my blog. I was not very familiar with blogs and I struggled with changing the settings, my name and making my blog look all fancy but, I was able to get help from my group. It was also nice to make new friends, were all friends on Facebook now!